Bringing over 25 years of experience in education, employment and training programs, Mr. Wallace is new to TPG's Community Enhancement Division.

Mr. Wallace's has worked as the Director of a School to Career program for 14 years. In that position, he has facilitated the expansion of a Tulare and Kings County P-16 Education Alliance program, which seeks to improve student success and close the achievement gap among groups of students. He also has provided management and support for several California community college career and technical education initiatives. These initiatives provide career technical educational opportunities for middle school and high school students, and improved linkages between the career and technical curricula of the public schools and community colleges.

As past manager of youth programs for the Tulare County Private Industry Council, Mr. Wallace was actively involved in the formation of business, education and community collaboratives in Tulare County and the region.

Mr. Wallace is currently overseeing the effort to locate funding for the expansion of the ImagineU Children's Museum in Visalia.
